Who We Are

We are a growing environmental company that provides a myriad of remediation methods and technologies for our growing base of customers across the United States. Our areas of expertise include field service, railroad derailments and non-accidental releases, soil remediation, confined space, waste transportation and disposal and emergency response. We also offer training services and environmental products.

Our Team

Our experienced and well-trained personnel are well versed in providing solutions for high profile environmental projects. Our management team has worked in the environmental industry since 1988, but GrayMar continues to add employees from all different industries who bring innovation, enthusiasm, and creativity to our team.
